

The 1889 Gray telephone (left) was the original pay phone. Since then, pay-phone models have evolved (above) into today's high-tech public phones, with video screens and dialing instructions in four languages.